DEMPF ASKS RETIREMENT.

Commander of Naval Militia to Quit Service July 7.

Commander Joseph A. Dempf, of the Naval Battalion of the National Guard of the District, has made application for retirement, to become effective at the conclusion of his present leave on July 7. His application has been approved.

Brig. Gen. William E. Harvey, who commands the District militia, has ordered a reorganization of the Naval Battalion, and yesterday afternoon conferred with Lieut. Commander R. R. Brummet, the officer next in rank to Commander Dempf.

Commander Dempf has a long record of service, having prior to entering the militia been a member of the regular naval establishment. On November 14, 1899, he enlisted in the naval militia, and with a brief interruption, he has remained continuously in it ever since.

Bomb-Thrower Disappoints.

Yesterday passed at the Agricultural Department without any sign of the "bomb" thrower, who threatened in letters to local papers earlier in the week to work destruction there "on Friday." A special guard was thrown about the threatened building during the past few days and will remain on duty for some while.

Young people need clear complexions

If you find yourself "left out" because of a poor skin, and want a clear, fresh complexion, use Resinol Soap at least once a day. Wash thoroughly with a warm, creamy lather of it, then rinse the face with plenty of cold water.

It does not often take many days of such regular care with Resinol Soap to show an improvement, because the Resinol medication soothes and refreshes the skin, while the perfectly pure soap is cleansing it.

Resinol Soap

should be aided by a little Resinol Ointment, in severe or stubborn cases. Resinol Soap and Ointment are sold by all druggists. For trial free, write to Dept. 26-R, Resinol, Baltimore.

AWARDS HERALD PRIZES TONIGHT

Dr. Joseph S. Wall, of Board of Judges, to Give Watches and Bracelets to Winners.

WILL END CAMPAIGN

Exercises to Be Held at Central Exhibit Building—Essay Competition Great Success.

MISS IDAMAY LANG, winner of the second prize for graded school girls in The Washington Herald "Better Baby" essay contest.

The final event of Washington's baby week campaign will be the awarding of prizes in The Washington Herald "better baby" essay contest at the Central Exhibit Building, Fifteenth and F streets northwest, at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

These girls, together with Miss Lillian Shewmaker, of 500 Rhode island avenue northeast, and Miss Beesie Pearce, of 1712 Fifth street southeast, authors of the best essays from the graded and high schools, will receive their prizes from Dr. Joseph S. Wall during the exercises at the Central Exhibit Building tonight. Dr. Wall was a member of the board of judges in the contest.

The two gold watches, first prizes, and the two bracelets, second prizes, will be taken to the Central Exhibit Building today from the store of Charles Schwartz and Son, 708 Seventh street northwest, where they were purchased and in whose window they were on display through the contest.

The members of the various committees that conducted Washington's Baby Week campaign yesterday thanked The Herald individually for the interest which the "better baby" essay contest aroused among the school girls. It was one of the most successful contests ever conducted by a Washington newspaper.

VIRGINIA ALUMNI OF WASHINGTON BANQUET

200 University Men Gather at Raleigh to Hear "Good Old Song."

More than 200 alumni of the University of Virginia met in annual banquet of the Washington association of their organization at the Raleigh last night. The banquet was in honor of the faculty of the institution, and was presided over by R. Walton Moore, toastmaster of the evening.

Several addresses by the more prominent members of the alumni present enlivened the evening, among them being the remarks of President E. A. Alderman, of the university; Attorney General Gregory, Professor Emeritus Francis H. Smith, Edwin R. Embree, former president of the national association of secretaries, and Hugh H. Young, vice president of the general alumni.

The banquet was under the direction of a committee headed by Blaine Mallan, '14, and composed of H. Rosier Dulany, '12; William P. Marbury, '09; Charles P. Stearns, '04, and Frank D. Moore, '01.

During his address, President Alderman said the University of Virginia stood for character for the individual and service for the State. He told his fellow alumni that their alma mater trained upright men for public affairs, and pointed out that twenty-seven of her sons are members of the national Congress.

The guests at the speakers' table were: Mr. Justice McReynolds, Ambassador Thomas Nelson Page, Judge Edwin K. Campbell, Senators J. Hamilton Lewis and Oscar Underwood, Attorney General Gregory, Comptroller of the Treasury Williams, Dr. Edwin A. Alderman, prof. Theodore Hush, Prof. William W. Thornton, Dr. Francis H. Smith, Prof. William M. Lile, Dr. Hugh H. Young, Dr. Presley M. Rixey, Dr. Paul B. Barringer, Marshall King, Director Robert E. Wooley, of the Mint, and Profs. C. Alphonso Smith, Thomas Walker Page, Thomas Fitz-Hugh and Heath Ladbey.

Gasoline Report Ready June 1.
